JORDAN OPEN SOURCE ASSOCIATION (JOSA)

Website:

<https://www.josa.ngo/>

JOSA's mission is to promote openness in technology and to defend the rights of technology users in Jordan. We believe that information that is non-personal – whether it's software code, hardware design blueprints, data, network protocols and architecture, content – should be free for everyone to view, use, share, and modify. Our belief also holds that information that is personal should be protected within legal and technological frameworks. Access to the modern Web should likewise remain open.

TibCERT - Tibetan Computer Emergency Readiness Team

Website:

<https://tibcert.org/>

The Tibetan Computer Emergency Readiness Team (TibCERT) seeks to create a formal, coalition-based structure for reducing and mitigating online threats in the Tibetan community, as well as to expand Tibetans' technical research capacity on threats in the diaspora and surveillance and censorship inside Tibet, ultimately ensuring greater online freedom and security for Tibetan society as a whole.

TibCERT's mission includes:

- Creating and sustaining a platform for long-term collaboration between stakeholders in the Tibetan community on digital security issues and needs,
- Deepening connections and developing a formal process for collaboration between Tibetans and global malware and cybersecurity researchers to ensure mutually beneficial sharing,
- Increasing the resources available to Tibetans to defend against and mitigate online attacks by regularly publicizing information and recommendations on threats facing the community,
- Helping Tibetans in Tibet circumvent censorship and surveillance by providing regular, detailed information and analysis, as well as potential solutions.
